OUR HONORED GUEST.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman Royally Received by the Democratic Hosts—The Distinguished Party With Him and Festivities To-day.

When the east-bound Wabash passenger train pulled in a few minutes late last night, an immense throng of people awaited its arrived. Men, women and children braved the rain and encountered the disadvantage of its being supper hour, to greet the Old Roman and above and beyond all were the Hendricks heroes, all in the line to escort the distinguished party to the hotel.

When the headlight of the in-coming train lit up the advance shouts went up from a thousand throats and when Col. C. S. Brice's private car reached the stopping point the welcome amounted to an ovation.

The appearance of Judge Thurman on the platform of the train was the signal for unbridled enthusiasm at it continued as the Old Roman firmly wedged his way to the carriage in waiting, attached to which were four grey horses, prancing under their plumes.

The City band was endeavoring to drown the cheers with its music, and succeeded to some degree, when the Hendricks legion took its place in the street and marched in front of the carriages to the Wayne hotel.

The drive from the depot to the Wayne was a magnificent one, for the sidewalks were thronged to view the distinguished arrivals in open carriages as the red lights brightened the skies like unto daylight.

There were in the party, Judge Allen G. Thurman, Governor Isaac P. Gray, Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald, Mr. Allen W. Thurman, Dr. Wm. Schwarz, and the local reception committee, including Hon. J. H. Bass, Hon. R. C. Bell, Dr. Geo. W. Loag, Hon. F. P. Randall, Hon. C. A. O. McClellan, Mr. S. B. Bond, Hon. Charles McCulloch, Prof. J. H. Ungemach, Mr. A. E. Hoffman, Mr. Jacob Stier, Mr. Peter Scheid, Mr. P. J. Fallon, Mr. James M. Kane, Mr. Edward Gilmartin, Mr. O. E. Bradway, Mr. A. C. Trentman, Mr. Gottlieb Niemann, Mr. Philip Singleton, Mr. Henry Hilbrecht, sr., Mr. James Woulfe, Mr. A. H. Carrier, Mr. Joseph Langard, Mr. Otto Nichter.

At the hotel another great throng awaited the party. The enthusiasm broke out afresh as the judge and his company entered the hotel and were lost to sight.

The front of the hotel was bright as the sun, from an arch of electric lights that circled the double window back of the balcony, making the picture one of unsurpassed beauty.

The assembly was there to await the flag presentation to the Hendricks club and proposed to be entertained. Accordingly they called for their favorites and ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald was introduced by Senator Bell. The sturdy old statesman expressed his pleasure at greeting his Fort Wayne friends, told of his hopes of democratic success, said the political skies were never clearer and closed with a few pleasant allusions to say good night.

Gov. Isaac P. Gray was introduced by Hon Fred J. Hayden and was royally received. He had everything pleasant to say to his Fort Wayne friends, among which was the assertion that he had promised Judge Thurman that Allen county would give his ticket 4,500 democratic majority. "Make it 5,000," "We'll give him 5,000," "You are too low," and such cries went up. "If you will give 4,500 majority in Allen county," said the governor, "I will guarantee you the state by 10,000 democratic majority."

THE HENDRICKS CLUB HONORED.

The Hendricks legion was ready to receive their banner at this juncture, 7:30, but the ladies had fixed 8 o'clock for the event and were immovable, and the handsome young fellows marched about town briefly to await the pleasure of their sisters, wives and sweethearts.

At 8 o'clock, the ladies having arrived and placed themselves in the windows, Hon. J. M. Barrett, surrounded by a bevy of belles, presented the Hendricks legion the handsomest and richest silk flag of the campaign. Mr. Barrett was in fine voice and poured his eloquence out in these words:

Gentlemen of the Hendricks club:—I desire to congratulate you upon being members of the great democratic party. I congratulate you that you belong to the party of Jefferson and Jackson, of Madison and Monroe, of McClellan and Hancock the superb, of Tilden and Hendricks, and of Cleveland and Thurman. I congratulate you, that you do not belong to a party begotten of a single issue and born in the travail of civil war and afterwards left without purpose and without force other than the cohesive power of public plunder, but that you belong to a party whose foundation stones were laid broad and deep upon the solid rock of the rights of the people, a party whose cardinal principle has always been a government of the people, by the people and for the people; a party whose history, extending back to the national birth, is replete with great battles and illustrious achievements in behalf of the masses as against the corroding power of the possible few; a party on whose banner there has always been inscribed the motto: "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none;" a party that has withstood the storms of time, passed through the dark valley of defeat, and to-day stands on the sunlit hills of the peoples confidence; a party that does not feast upon the dead issues of the past, but with eyes toward the morning sun is nourished by the great and burning questions of to-day; a party that is not permeated with the economic heresy that you can make a man rich by taxing his food, his clothing and the implements of his industry; a party that has outlived every antagonist, and which will in November next bury the grand old political reminiscence in an ocean of free whisky, with a tobacco leaf for its shroud. At that funeral it is to be hoped that the members of the Hendricks club will be among the chief grave diggers. It is an honorable occupation.

I also congratulate you upon the name chosen for your club—the name of Indiana's once favorite son, the strong advocate of the people's rights, the great publicist, the pure and upright statesman, the exemplary husband and the model citizen—the well beloved and much lamented Hendricks. In honoring him you have honored yourselves.

Another of Indiana's distinguished sons, in paying his last tribute of respect to his memory in the senate of the United States, said of him: "As long as American history treasures up pure lives and faithful public services; as long as public and private virtue, stainless and without blemish, is reared, so long will his name be cherished by the American people as an example worthy of the highest emulation. Monuments of brass and marble will lift their heads toward heaven in honor of his fame; but a monument more precious to his memory and more valuable to the world has already been founded in the hearts of the people whom he served so long, so faithfully and with such signal ability."

But most of all, I congratulate you upon having won favor and distinction in the sight of the democratic ladies of Fort Wayne. Upon their behalf and at their request it is now my privilege and pleasure to present to you this beautiful flag as a token of their esteem for you personally and of their deep interest in the success of the democratic cause. I feel assured that this banner will give to each individual member of your club a new zeal and added courage to do worthy battle for the cause of democracy. From this time on you will realize that the eyes of fair women are upon you and your class, while their hopes and prayers go up for the success of your cause, which they have made their own. He would indeed be unworthy who could be a laggard under such inspiration. The nation's flag is an appropriate gift to a democratic club. Like democracy, it is a beacon of hope to the poor and lonely and spreads its protecting folds over all alike. It represents a perpetual union of indestructible states. "A star for every state and a state for every star." It is a constant rebuke to the spirit of sectionalism sought to be kept alive by the republican party and a thundering denunciation of the reverend apostles of brotherly hatred and malice that are traveling through the land declaring the issue to be the solid north against the solid south. It's bright stars proclaim "one flag, one land, one heart, one nation evermore." Its white bars represent the purity of the democratic principles, the red the strength and ardor of your devotion to democratic success, the blue the fidelity of the democratic party to the welfare of the whole people. With this flag you will carry another appropriate democratic emblem—the well-known bandana. It too has become emblematic of the rights of the people as against the insatiate greed of corporate monopoly. With it is associated the history of the public life and services of that able and tried statesman, in whose honor the democracy of northern Indiana will assemble to-morrow. The people's faithful friend, the unfaltering foe of corporate greed—the noblest Roman of them all—Allen G. Thurman.

The emblems of clubs and parties are somewhat significant. I saw the Tippecanoes the other night carrying a banner with the strange device "Nickel" inscribed thereon. I thought it exceedingly appropriate. It is said that when the Russians discovered the first nickel mine they knew of no use it could be put to, they regarded it as worthless or good for nothing. They therefore called it nickel, signifying nothing.

Now I do not suppose the Tippecanoes intended to advertise themselves as a lot of nothings, but the word is appropriate as representing the result of their labor in this campaign. It is all for nothing.

Now, gentlemen, the fair givers of this flag place it in your hands with the belief that its bright colors shall be seen in the thickest of the battle that is now being waged for cheaper clothing, better food and better houses for the people and against the debauching influence of free whisky and tobacco and the unnecessary burdens of high taxes, and with confidence that the members of the Hendricks club will never permit it to be stained with the dishonor of defeat in a cause so just, but that you will carry it to a glorious victory for Cleveland, Thurman and reform."

All this while the silk emblem was in sight of the gay Hendricks boys, and cheers were as liberal as the sentiments of Mr. Barrett.

At his close, Mr. P. B. Colerick, clad in the ulster of the club, appeared on the balcony, and was cheered to the echo. Turning to the ladies he said, with all the fervor of his family of orators:

Ladies—We, as members of the Hendrick's club, have met here this evening for a most pleasant purpose. To receive from your fair hands this beautiful flag. It should at all times be honored and the donors long remembered.

Ladies—While you have not the right of suffrage, yet the advice and good counsel and encouragement which we receive from you will greatly aid us in achieving a glorious triumph in November next and when this victory is won, then this flag with thousands of other flags throughout this land will be unfurled in the ratification of the glorious event.

Gentlemen—We all feel proud in having with us on this joyful occasion one of America's greatest statesman, yes, I might say "the noblest Roman of them all," Hon. Allen G. Thurman, and with such standard bearers and the assistance of the noble ladies of the democratic party, we will surely march on to glorious victory and thereby continuing a "government of the people and for the people," a government for the masses and not the classes.

Ladies—When all over this grand land ratification meetings are held, let me say that your aid, good council and encouragement pending the great struggle for the right shall never be forgotten.

Mr. Colerick was applauded to the echo and was given a royal reception by his comrades for whom he was spokesman.

A BRIEF RECEPTION.

At the conclusion of the flag presentation, Hon. R. C. Bell announced that Judge Thurman would meet the ladies, and leaning on the arm of Hon. Joseph E. McDonald, the next vice president entered the parlor. Mrs. Charles McCulloch was selected to do the introductory honors and his meeting Hon. and Mrs. McCulloch served as an occasion to pay personal compliments to the Hon. Hugh McCulloch, the distinguished father of the Fort Wayne banker.

Mr. Thurman then turned to the ladies and shook hands with each of the fair ones adding a pleasant word here and there, as the meeting seemed to prompt.

The distinguished statesman looked his best and was fresh as a new plucked rose, with a feeling and spirit as bright as sunlight. It was indeed a grand sight to see a man of his years in such a pleasant mood.

During all this time the Hendricks legion, with an escort of first voters, were parading the principal streets, exhibiting proudly their silk banner to a friendly breeze.

At 9 o'clock, the committee of ladies who originated the presentation, were tendered a banquet at the Wayne house, and at the table with their escorts were the Misses Mary Randall, Ida Neireiter, Ada Heller, Lou Mungen, Lyda Boseker and Louise Horton.

THE FESTIVITIES TO-DAY.

The day could not have opened brighter overhead, nor could the conditions have been improved upon, save that the streets were frightfully muddy and a knowledge of this fact unquestionably kept thousands of people away from Fort Wayne.

There is little room to complain of the numbers, and certainly no chance to criticise the enthusiasm of the throng, which began coming on the earliest trains.

Business houses on Calhoun, Columbia, Main and Berry streets are gaily decorated with national colors, portraits of Cleveland, Thurman, the state candidates, with bandanas tacked onto everything.

It was indeed a picture to inspire democratic hearts and strangers coming in on all sides must have appreciated the honors.

Every incoming train brought its delegations from every conceivable point, and at noon there was a crush on the streets.

Hon. C. F. Muhler was in command of the forces with headquarters in the saddle, while his aids met the visiting delegations and placed them in position for the procession, which moved before 1 o'clock, in all its strength and magnificence, with Mr. Muhler in command, headed by a platoon of police.

The old soldiers and veterans, four hundred strong, were accorded the post of honor and carried transparencies expressing their admiration for President Cleveland. Their appearance was a genuine surprise, as they have planned the parade among themselves. It demonstrates that the soldiers cannot be hoodwinked by republican falsehoods.

The Thurmen bandana club, the Jeffersonians, the visiting clubs, First Voter's, the Cavalry company, Ladies' Bandana club, in wagons and citizens in conveyances, children in wagons, industrial parade and so on, ran the pageant, divided here and there by bands and drum corps commanded by Mr. Muhler's aides.

From the Wayne hotel balcony Judge Thurman, Senator Voorhees, Governor Gray, ex-Senator McDonald, and other distinguished men viewed the great parade.

The procession was an hour passing The Sentinel office and from this can be formed an idea of its strength. Their must have been 10,000 people in the parade and one-third of the clubs were not out but will be to-night.

Houses are decorated, the ladies are out in holiday attire and the man without a democratic emblem is a rarity.

THE SPEECHES.

The afternoon meeting was held at the Hamilton fields, south of the railroad, to which point the parade lead thousands. Three large stands had been erected. The central one was occupied by Hon. Allen G. Thurman and Gov. Isaac P. Gray. At one of the other, or overflow, stands Samuel Carey and J. H. Goulden held forth, and at the other Hon. J. E. McDonald and Senator Voorhees.

OFFICERS OF THE DAY.

President of the day, John H. Bass.

Vice-presidents—Hon. W. G. Colerick, Hon. A. H. Hamilton, Hon. J. K. Edgerton, Hon. Robert Lowry, Hon. Wm. Fleming, P. S. O'Rourke, J. D. Sarnighausen, Christian Tresselt, Prof. August Crull, J. G. Theime, Barney Fitzpatrick, John Smith, O. P. Morgan, Louis Rastetter, J. F. W. Meyer, John Welch, Geo. DeWald, Henry Monning, C. L. Centlivre, Henry Berghoff, James O'Hern, Philip Luley, Morris Cody, Rudolph Bœrger, Frank Sallier, August Lordier, Rudolph Bensman, William H. Miller.

ANOTHER OVATION FOR THURMAN.

The appearance of Judge Thurman in an open carriage on the Hamilton field was greeted by the cheers of fully 50,000 people.

The throng opened for him and his party a passage way to the speakers stand and ascending the platform he surveyed the great concourse, as cheer after cheer went up, the gray haired man, gentle-women and boys vieing with each other to do him honor.

As soon as quiei reigned, Hon. J. H. Bass stepped to the front and briefly introduced Judge Thurman, who, with uncovered head and a face beaming with satisfaction, stepped to the railing.

The distinguished gentleman recited the fact of his having spoken frequently this week and had arrangements ahead of him at Peru, Indianapolis and Brazil, and said it had been deemed advisiable for him not to speak in the open air.

"I will speak at the Princess Rink to-night," said he, "and will spread myself as well as my ability will permit." He expressed immense gratification at the grand assembly and thanks for the welcome accorded him. Every day in Indiana gladdened his heart and when he saw the zeal, energy and patriotism of the democrats everywhere his heart filled with emotion. His friends had said to him that Indiana was democratic and now he believed it himself. After bowing his acknowledgments to the great throng, greeting them on all sides, the judge gave way to Governor Gray and Senator Voorhees.

TO-NIGHT.

THE EVENING SPRECHES.

This evening, after the parade, Judge Thurman and Senator Voorhees will speak at the Princess Rink, and Joseph E. McDonald will hold forth at the Academy of Music, while Governor Gray, J. H. Goulden, Judge Everett Bell and Samuel Carey will be at the north and south doors of the court house. This arrangement, it is hoped, will be satisfactory to all the visitors and is the most eqnal distribution the committee could make.

Judge Thurman will begin his speech promptly at 8 o'clock, and will not wait for the procession.

THE NIGHT PARADE CUT SHORT.

It has been decided to confine the evening parade to the paved streets, such as Calhoun, Columbia, Main, Berry and Barr. The muddy streets cannot be walked and the arrangement will be satisfactory.

EN ROUTE TO FORT WAYNE.

At the Indiananapolis depot a hearty cheer was given by the crowd there assembled as a "God-speed" to the judge and party when they pulled out for this city. As the train passed slowly through the capital city, bandanas were waved and hearty cheers greeted its appearance.

Stations along the way gave warm welcome.

Cicero had one hundred or more people, to whose cheers the judge returned thanks, telling them they had evidently brought their lungs with them.

Arcadia is a small station whose democrats had telegraphed ahead, asking a brief speech, and when the train came to a stop a couple of hundred of cheering people were in waiting with banners. Without waiting for an introduction to the people, whose cheers showed none was needed, Judge Thurman said:

"My Friends—At the close of the American revolution, or a little time after that, General Washington made a visit to Massachusetts, and old John Hancock was governor of that state, and old Hancock said that no man worshiped Washington like he, or more than he did, but that no man should take precedence of him in the state of Massachusetts.

"Now, I cannot take precedence of the noble governor of Indiana, and I ask you to give three cheers for Governor Gray."

The cheers were given with a will, and Gov. Gray remarked:

"All I have to say, many friends, is this: Don't permit such a thing to stain the escutcheon of the democracy of Indiana as for it to fail to cast its vote on the 6th day of November next for the grand man, the best that you have ever had the privilege to vote for in your lives; who has served his country long and well, and stands before the people to-day having deservedly won that title which you all know—the noblest Roman—of the public men of our country."

The governor closed with an admonition for democratic wives to see that their husbands turned out promptly and voted. Among the banners in the crowd was one with pictures of Cleveland and Thurman with mottoes under them. This caught Judge Thurman's eye, and when Gov. Gray concluded he pointed to it, saying: "There is the best thing that I have seen yet. 'Give us four years more of honest government.' That is the thing, that's the banner; under that you will march to victory.

Atlanta cheered for Thurman and Gray. As the train pulled out, one enthusiast shouted, "Now halloo again," and they did so.

Four or five hundred people stood in the rain at Tipton and cheered enthusiastically. Judge Thurman's response was.

"My friends, I am very much obliged to you for your welcome, but, of course, you do not expect me to make a speech. I am husbanding my voice and taking care of it as much as I can so as to make a big talk, what the Indians call a long talk, up here at Fort Wayne, and now you have been so kind as to give three cheers for me, I ask you to give three cheers for your noble governor—Gov. Gray." [Cheers.]

Gov. Gray spoke briefly, and when the train started a number in the crowd asked the judge if he would stand at the door, so that all could see him. He replied "yes, if they think I am worth looking at."

At Kokomo a crowd of 1,500 on the tops of freight cars, on the platform and on the track cheered again and again. Judge Thurman simply had time to thank them before the train started.

Another crowd, equally as large and every bit as enthusiastic, greeted the judge at Peru, where the private car was coupled to the Wabash train. Judge Thurman and Governor Gray both spoke briefly, the judge excusing himself by saying: "Day after to-morrow I will speak to you until you are tired of me," but several in the crowd promptly yelled out, "you can't do it."

When Wabash was reached a crowd of 1,000 cheered the sight of the judge, who introduced Governor Gray, and they shouted more than ever.

At Andrews 500 people, and as many more at Huntington, showed their democracy by hearty applause at sight of the judge.

A CHAT WITH HIM.

As soon as the Judge arrived at the hotel and had bowed himself through the crowd, he repaired to his room, accompanied by his son, Allen W. Thurman. He soon made himself at home and supper was served in his appartments, where he received only a few callers, among them The Sentinel representative.

After an exchange of greetings the newspaper man ventured to ask about the prospects of the election of Mr. Cleveland and himself.

"Well, I don't know" replied the statesman. "I cannot see how it can be otherwise. The prospects are very flattering."

"While east you had a good chance to look over New York?"

"Yes, sir; I saw a good deal that makes me believe that New York will be ours; for that is what you want to know, I suppose. I am assured by great politicians all over the state; and from both parties, that New York will give a very handsome democratic majority."

"Do you agree with President Cleveland's views on the tariff questions?"

"Yes, sir, I do. There is a great deal of 'bunkoing' going on in republican ranks about this matter. They are trying to make the people think that 'democracy' means 'free trade'. This is not the case. I know that Mr. Cleveland does not believe in absolute free trade."

"Do you think that the Mills bill or any measure similar to it will ever pass?"

"Yes, sir, I do. It may not be the Mills bill as it now is, but a measure very simular will some day become a law, and that day is not far distant."

And here the Judge went in an eloquent peroration on tariff reform.

THE THURMAN PARTY.

The Thurman party consists of Hon. Allen G. Thurman, his son, Mr. A. W. Thurman, Dr. Wm. Schwarz, their family physician, Ex-senator McDonald, Gov. Isaac P. Gray, Hon. Edward Everett Bell, of New York, Mr. R. M. Brown, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, Messrs. B. S. Cowen and W. S. Garber, of the Associated Press. A. M. Hunt, of the United Press, and W. A. Taylor, of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

SENATOR VOORHEES.

The distinguished senior senator from Indiana arrived in the city at 10:30 this morning from Hartford City, where he spoke last night. He is in the best of health and spirits, and will make great speeches to-day. He is accompanied by W. J. Haswood and S. H. Alexander.

THE CLEVELAND CLUB.

The famous Tilden club, of Cleveland, 500 strong and headed by their own band, arrived on a special train, after 3 o'clock, this afternoon, and were escorted to the Hamilton fields by the Hendricks legion and the City band. They were handsome as princes going up Calhoun street, with the Thurman club bringing up the rear.

NOTES.

Col. J. A. Goulden, of Pittsburg, one of the speakers to-day, has been making great speeches in the state. He is an old soldier, and a member of the Pennsylvania state central committee.

Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald and General Samuel Carey addressed a great meeting at Wabash yesterday.

Senator Voorhees addressed 10,000 people at Hartford City last night, and there was a great parade.

Senator Turpie was compelled to go to Washington and forgo the pleasure of a visit to Fort Wayne.

A Check That Did Much Good.

Some weeks ago a prominent real estate dealer in Los Angeles handed a gentleman a check for $2,500 in a deal. The recipient of it having some little obligations outstanding as the result of too much boom quietly indorsed it and handed it to a creditor, and thus it started on its mission of charity, love, and business. In due course of time it turned up in the hands of the original drawer of it, with no less than fifteen indorsements on the back. It had paid $37,500 in debts, made fifteen men happy and returned to its drawer.—Santa Ana, (Cal.) Standard.

To Assist Nature

In restoring diseased or wasted tissue is all that any medicine can do. In pulmonary affections, such as Colds, Bronchitis, and Consumption, the mucous membrane first becomes inflamed, then accumulations form in the air-cells of the lungs, followed by tubercles, and, finally, destruction of the tissue. It is plain, therefore, that, until the hacking cough is relieved, the bronchial tubes can have no opportunity to heal. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Soothes and Heals

the inflamed membrane, arrests the wasting process, and leaves no injurious results. This is why it is more highly esteemed than any other pulmonary specific.

L. D. Bixby, of Bartonsville, Vt., writes: "Four years ago I took a severe cold, which was followed by a terrible cough. I was very sick, and confined to my bed about four months. My physician finally said I was in consumption, and that he could not help me. One of my neighbors advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and before I had taken half a bottle was able to go out. By the time I had finished the bottle I was well, and have remained so ever since."

Alonzo P. Daggett, of Smyrna Mills, Me., writes: "Six years ago, I was a traveling salesman, and at that time was suffering with

Lung Trouble.

For months I was unable to rest nights. I could seldom lie down, had frequent choking spells, and was often compelled to seek the open air for relief. I was induced to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which helped me. Its continued use has entirely cured me, and, I believe, saved my life."

THIS is Thurman day.

TRIUMPHANT democracy reigns.

GIVE to all a royal, democratic welcome.

THE freedom of the city is tendered to the visitors.

THE skies cleared at the approach of the grand Old Roman.

THE next vice president was royally welcomed to Fort Wayne.

FORT WAYNE extends a good, hearty welcome to its guests to-day.

OUR compliments to the noblest Roman of them all—Allen G. Thurman.

OCCASIONS of this sort widen Fort Wayne's fame and reputation for hospitality.

GENERAL SAM CARY, after a long campaigning trip in the east, said in an interview at Cincinnati, Saturday, that New York is as sure for Cleveland as Georgia is.

IT is not often that Fort Wayne welcomes as one man, three of the greatest statesmen in Indiana—Senator Daniel W. Voorhees, Governor Isaac P. Gray and Hon. Joseph E. McDonald.

THE TRIUMPHS OF DEMOCRACY.

One might exhaust volumes in detailing the triumphs of the democratic party since the day of its inception, but the exhaustless roll of honor has no prouder claim to destinction than its strict adherence to the fundamental corner stone, "a government by the people."

Now as ever it is leading the advance thought and its triumph is the best possible evidence of the justice of its policy, while sufficient reward is found in the approval of the people of the republic in whom the whole power ultimately resides.

Once more in its long history the democratic party appeals to the people of America to rid themselves of unnecessary taxation, to lighten the burdens of government and free themselves from the bondage of far reaching monopolies, and their ally, the republican party.

It seeks to adjust the tariff taxes of the country to the needs of an economical government, so that the citizens of this great nation may enjoy the blessings of lawful freedom at the least possible cost.

After an administration of acknowledged purity, after a faultless reign of almost four years, cheered by the blessings of prosperity and nourished by a patriotism that has won fresh laurels for the stars and stripes at home and abroad, an land and sea, it is hardly probable that the people of this nation are ready for a radical change from certainty to uncertainty, from right to wrong, from on honest people's tariff tax to war bounties for gold barons and monopolists.

This nation has greater possibilities in the future than few realize and if the past is accepted as evidence, the democratic party can be trusted to the achievements.

To recall a few of the triumphs of the democracy will but refresh old memories and endear the young men of to-day to the cause for which we battle.

In 1801, when the great Jefferson was inaugurated president of the United States, the union was bounded on the west by the Mississippi river, on the south, by the present boundary line of Florida; on the east, by the Atlantic; on the north, by the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river. All that vast territory west of the "Father of Waters" was under the jurisdiction of foreign nations having no sympathy for republican forms of government. It was then that Mr. Jefferson consumnated that masterpiece of diplomacy, the purchase of the Louisiana territory.

Let us endeavor, by comparison, to grasp the magnitude of this acquisition to the American union. It contains the greatest river system of the globe, embracing many navigable streams, constituting a series of water communications, north and south, east and west. This vast tract contains 756,961,280 of the most fertile land in the universe, purchased at a cost of two cents per acre. The influence of this accession to the union can not be calculated. Blaine thus speaks of that act of Jefferson as follows: "The acquisition of Louisiana brought incalculable wealth, power and prestige to the union, and must always be regarded as the masterpiece of policy which advanced the United States from a comparatively feeble nation, lying between the Atlantic and the Mississippi, to a continental power of assured strength and boundless promise." The history of ancient or modern times, the annals of celebrated conquerors cannot equal this splendid triumph of our Jefferson.

During the administration of James Monroe, a democrat, Florida was added to the Union. This addition to the Union comprised 37,931,520 acres. The result of this purchase was to give the United States command of the Gulf of Mexico, and a coigne of vantage for the South America trade.

While James K. Polk was presiding, with great ability, over the destinies of America, 334,433,520 acres of land was added, thereby broadening the foundations of our glorious country. The mineral wealth of this acquisition is beyond computation. To comprehend the greatness of these triumphs of democratic statesmanship, it should be remembered that the following states and territories were carved out of these enormous tracts: Louisiana, 41,346 square miles; Missouri, 65,350, Arkansas, 52,198; Florida, 59,268; Iowa, 55,045; Texas, 274,356; California, 157,801; Minnesota, 83,531; Oregon, 95,274; Kansas, 80,891; Nevada, 112,090; Nebraska, 75,995; Colorada, 104,500, New Mexico, 121,201; Utah, 84,476; Washington, 69,994; Dakota, 150,922; Arizona, 113,916; Idaho, 86,294; Montana, 143,776; Wyoming, 97,883, and Indian Territory, 68,991 square miles.

The Motion of the Earth.

Any one can prove the rotary motion of the earth on its axis by a simple periment, for making which an ed tional journal of Frankfort, Germany, gives the following directions:

"Take a good-sized bowl, fill it nearly full with water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street.

Sprinkle over the surface of the water a coat of lycopodium powder, a white substance which is sometimes used for the purposes of the toilet and which can be obtained at almost any apothecary's.

Then upon the surface of this coating of powder make with powdered charcoal a straight, black line, say an inch or two inches in length.

Having made this little black mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay down upon the floor, close to the bowl, a stick or some other straight object, so that it will be exactly parallel with the mark.

If the line happens to be parallel with a crack in the room, this will serve as well.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours, and then observe the position of the black mark with reference to the object that it was parallel with. It will be found to have moved about, and to have moved from east to west.

The earth in simply revolving has carried the water and everything else in the bowl around with it, but the p der has been left behind a little.

The line will always be found to have moved from east to west, which is perfectly good proof that everything else has moved the other way."

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or effection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

MAUD MEREDITH, the wild and headstrong girl known in California as the heiress of Oakland, recently escaped from her guardians, who have been trying to make a lady of her since she became wealthy and were stopping at San Luis Obispo with her. After a search of ten days she was found, clad in boy's apparel, hoeing beans on a ranch below Arroyo Grande. The man who gave her employment states that he never had a person who was more faithful.

Every wife and mother in the country should know the great value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as a blood purifier. It gives tone, health and strength, to the vital organs, corrects all irregularties, and expels impurities from the system. Young and old use it. Price $1.

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the Cuticura Remedies. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the Cuticura Remedies, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother, who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured.

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the Cuticura Remedies, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well,—sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name, which is H. H. Cason, merchant of this place.

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried Cuticura. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and Cuticura ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breath freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrah, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

MORE KICKS.

The "Arizona Kicker's" Vigorous Policy.

[Detroit Free Press.]

We extract the following from the last issue of the Arizona Kicker:

OUR POLICY—Heretofore, as our readers know, the Kicker has almost entirely abstained from publicly criticising the evils which all know to exist under our nose. We have become tired and disgusted with ourselves for the lack of spunk, and next week we shall open a red-hot campaign on

"The Mayor,
"The Common Council,
"The Fire Department,
"All secret societies,
"The saloons,
"The gambling dens,
"And on various other organizations and institutions reeking with corruption.

"It will be a spicy issue. It will make more than a ton of human hair stand on end. It will make a thousand hearts thump like pile-drivers. Chicanery, deceit, hypocrisy, theft, robbery, arson, and murder will be properly tagged off and the tags pinned to the right coat-tails.

"Order your extra copies at an early date. Advertisers should send in their copy by Saturday. Don't neglect this golden opportunity. Another may never come."

"A CANDID OPINION.—We have received visits from several of our leading politicians to inquire why the Kicker doesn't take a decided political stand in favor of one party or the other. It is a question easily answered. We are not publishing a newspaper for fun. Our convictions all run to publishing a dictionary or an almanac, thus leaving us neutral in politics.

"If the Kicker flies the Democratic flag and hustles for Cleveland and Thurman it must have some solid assurance that after election the editor will receive a call. A call with a salary of about $3,000 hitched to it would just about fit our shape.

"If the Kicker put up the Republican ticket and blows for its success it must have something in writing to fall back on after election. We think we could fall back on a postoffice of the second-class and not fracture our anatomy.

"We sat up all night last night waiting for a committee of Prohibitionists to come along and get down to facts, but the bridges were down and they didn't come. We don't say that it all depends on the Kicker which party rules for the next four years, but we do solemnly affirm that the editor will keep clear of the whole mob and publish nothing but poetry and local news unless some pretty solid promises are held out to arouse his slumbering convictions. We are not for sale, but we do hanker for office."

"STOPPED HIS PAPER.—Old Steve Bridgeman, who has several times been alluded to in these columns as the meanest white man in Arizona, has stopped his paper because we did not have a column editorial on the Fourth of July. He says we are no patriot, and that a man who can't whoop'er up for Independence Day is a cussed rebel.

"We have scratched his name off the list, and if he doesn't quit lying about us we'll scratch his carcass off the face of the earth.

"As to the Fourth of July, we were born on that day. As to the patriotism, we've got more in our heels than old Steve could hold in his whole body. The man who intimates that we don't take off our hat every time we hear the name of Washington is a liar and a horse-thief. Our editorial on the Fourth was a solid chunk of patriotism weighing twenty-five pounds, but was crowded out to make room for the advertisement headed: 'How to Cure a Bad Breath.' We know our gait and we think we know the great need of most of our townspeople. As to old Steve Bridgeman, we are expecting two or three of his six or seven wives to drop in on us any day and furnish us some powerful reading matter. Don't be uneasy, Stephen—we'll get to you in a few days."

"WARNING.—We are no fighter. We have neither the sand nor the muscle to make one. We alway knuckle unless there's a chance to run. We admit to a dozen lickings in the last three months, and in every case we were the only one who suffered.

"However, we want to warn the coyote who plastered our office door with mud the other night that the worm will turn. We are the worm. When we turn he had beiter look out. We can be kicked, cuffed, insulted, and abused up to a certain limit. How far off the limit is, we don't know, but when we reach it, we shall be a bad, bad mar to fool with."

AMONG the recent shipments from London were the photograms of Mr. Gladstone's speech and one of Adelina Patti's songs. This fact suggests the extent to which this new invention—the phonograph—may be used. We shall have an entirely new industry. Instead of reading the speeches of distinguished men and hearing the songs of great divas we can turn them out with all the vocal disagreeableness or attractiveness of the original voice with the aid of a phonograph. We shall have boxes filled with the songs of Patti and Materna; bales of speeches of Gladstone and Bismarck. Perhaps the phonograph can be used on the battle field so that we can get some of the fierce noises of the fray. It will add much of interest to the study of the map. The phonograph will be used to record death-bed wishes. In fact there is no telling what the little instrument can't be made to do.

In Arctic Alaska.

Lieut. W. L. Howard, U. S. N., contributes to the Popular Science Monthly an article on "Arctic Alaska," from which we take this extract: A deer-hunt which we witnessed was so different from our previous conception, that I think it worthy of description. Upon this occasion, while sledging with a party of Indians, a herd of deer was sighted. The natives took their rifles and started, some going in one direction and some in another, but all keeping to the leeward of the deer. Those who went directly toward the herd waited until the others had got partly around before starting. The first shot was the signal, whereupon all hands rushed toward the frightened animals, who separated and plunged blindly in every direction. The Indians shouted, making all the noise possible, the fleeing animals in their fear mistaking Indians for deer, and rushing on until a shot showed them their error, when they would turn and flee as blindly as before. Even after the first fight they circled around the danger, trying to get together, and in this way many more were killed. As much meat as could be carried was loaded upon the sleds, while the remainder was cached in the snow, to be sledged for at some future time.

The Indians spend their winters in the mountains. They are generally found in villages consisting of from two to a dozen houses. The winter house of these people consists of a hemispherically-shaped hut, made by bending willow saplings or cutting spruce to the desired shape. The framework is covered with brush, and over this dried moss and turf to the depth of a foot or more. There is an ice window on either side of the entrance. In the roof is a hole just over the fireplace for the smoke. Inside, the center of the hut is used as a fireplace, the fire being made the same as in the open air! At the back of the hut is a meat-stand, upon which several hundred pounds of deer-meat is kept, so that a quantity will be on hand sufficiently thawed for use. Upon entering a hut when traveling, some of this partially-thawed meat is always offered to the newcomer. The floor of the hut is covered with brush, upon which they sit during the day, and spread skins to sleep upon at night. Meat is cooked but once a day. About 5 p. m. a large fire is started and the pots are put on. These are the ordinary kettles of civilization, which they get in trade, or, in their absence, pots made of native clay are used. The cooking is done by the women, who taste the meat from the moment it is put on the fire until cooked. The remainder of the fire is then thrown out through the hole in the roof by the young men, and as soon as the hut is clear of smoke, the flap that covers the chimney-hole is hauled over for the night. The hunters return usually about this time of the day, and upon entering the hut take off most of their clothes. After eating pounds of the deer meat, alternating the cooked with raw meat, and drinking quantities of the soup, they smoke a pipe, and all hands go to sleep. All the household are fond of stripping and baking themselves before the fire, particularly the old people, who go so close as to almost blister themselves. They say the heat makes them young, and drives away their pains.

IN a work on meteorology Camille Flammarion declares the atmosphere to be a huge machine, on which every living thing is dependent. There are in this machine neither wheel-work, pistons, nor cogs, nevertheless it does the work of several millions of horses, and this work has for its end and effect the preservation of life.—*Ark. I have not used all of one bottle yet. I suffered from catarrh for twelve years, experiencing the nauseating dropping in the throat peculiar to that disease, and nose bleed almost daily. I tried various remedies without benefit until last April, when I saw Ely's Cream Balm advertised in the Boston Budget. I procured a bottle, and since the first day's use have had no more bleeding—the soreness is entirely gone.—D. G. Davidsin, with the Boston Budget, formerly with Boston Journal.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A YOUNG woman on her way home from church in Mentone, Ind., the other night, was caught in a thunder shower and struck by lightning. It is reported that, though terribly frightened, she managed to reach home. On examination she found that the fluid had bent two of the hairpins on her head and actually melted one, but the skin was not abraded and she was not injured a particle.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—ought'n't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well."

An Effective Sermon.

Dr. Payson of Portland, Me., used to tell this good story: One rainy Sunday he went to his church as usual, but no one appeared except an old negro, who came in and asked if Dr. Payson was to preach. The Doctor said "Yes," and went into the pulpit and preached to the choir and the old negro. Some months afterward he met the negro and asked him if he enjoyed that sermon. "Enjoy dat sermon?" replied the old man. "I 'clar, Doctor, I nebber heerd a better one. Yo' see I had a seat pretty well up front, an' whenebber yo'd say somethin' pretty hard like 'gin de sins ob men, I'd jess look all roun' ter see who yo's a hitting, and I wouldn't see nobody on'y jess me. An' I says to m'self, he must mean you, Pomp, you's sech a dretful sinner. Well, Doctor, dat ar sermon set me a thinkin' what a big sinner I war an' I jined de church down home. I'se a deacon now."

That fat man who the ladies declare is the handsomest man in Washington, used to be an invalid, but he took to hard drinking, not of whiskey, but of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and now he walks right over the very slenderest dudes, and don't care at all.

Among the novelties in the "Arabian Nights" is a vapor curtain. A set of steam pipes is run across the stage at the first entrance, and at a certain point in the piece a thick and impenetrable cloud of steam ascends, upon which are thrown various colored lights. Behind this curtain of steam a magnificent set is in preparation. The curtain suddenly dissolves and the fifth scene of the first act, entitled "The Crypt of the Crimson Chrystals," is revealed. There the first ballet comes on. Among the heaviest sets in the piece are "The Market Place of Mongolia," "The Crimson Chrystal" scene, "The Parti-colored Palace of Parasols" and "The Transformation" scene at the end of the piece.

TIRED OF LIFE.

S. B. Crawford, a Hotel Clerk, Sends a Bullet Into His Brain at the Wabash Depot.

Last evening while sitting in the Wabash waiting room Mr. S. B. Crawford, the night clerk at the Commercial house, placed a revolver at his head and sent a bullet crashing through his brain, from the effects of which death will probably follow. He is at the City hospital, to which place he was taken immediately after the deed had been committed.

He was a single man and about thirty-four years old. At one time he was engaged in the grocery business at Keifersville, O., with Mr. John Crow, but the firm failed, since which time he has always been despondent, and has frequently threatened to take his life. His father, brothers and sisters reside at Pittsburg, and are said to be wealthy people. He was addicted to the use of opium, and a considerable quantity was found in his pockets after the shooting, and it is also said he was under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Crow, his former partner, was in the city yesterday on his way to Kansas, and was with the suicide during the afternoon and evening. Crow was to leave for Kansas in the evening and Crawford accompanied him to the depot where the deed was committed. He was carried to the city hospital where Drs. Neischang and Miller probed for the ball, which they found had lodged in the brain.

Mr. Crawford came to this city last May and has been night clerk at the Commercial house since then.

LATER.

Mr. Crawford died at the City hospital this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

THIEVES AT WORK.

A Number of People Victimized by Pick-Pockets.

Pick-pockets and thieves prepared to reap some of the rewards of the campaign, and got in their work last night in the crowd that assembled to see Judge Thurman.

Mr. John Krudop was relieved of a pocket-book holding $200 and a lot of valuable papers.

Mrs. E. B. Smith lost her purse and a small amount of money, and A. H. Carrier and Mahlon Heller were touched for small amounts.

CONGRESS.

The Talk on the Adjournment Question—The Proceedings To-day.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.—At the beginning of the morning business to-day there were eight republican and ten democratic senators present. Mr. George asked and obtained a leave of absence for the remainder of the session. After to-morrow, Mr. Hampton suggested in an undertone, that the same request should be made for all the senators.

The senate then resumed with the consideration of the tariff bill, and was addressed by Mr. Teller.

At the close of Mr. Tellers speech Mr. Allison offered a concurrent resolution for a recess of congress from Saturday next to the 19th of November.

Senator Allison has determined to offer a concurrent resolution that the two houses take a recess from next Saturday until November 19. He will ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The speaker laid before the house twelve pension veto messages and they were referred to the committee on invalid pensions. The house adjourned without taking any action on the adjournment resolution.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

The Day's Doings Around the Busy Centers as Told After a Hasty Morning Tour.

The Grand Rapids paid of its employes to-day.

The Pittsburg freight house is filled with freight.

The Pittsburg pay-car is in the city to-day, and will remain until to-morrow.

Frank P. Bowers, general passenger agent of the Illinois Central, is in the to-day.

The railroad depots presented a busy scene all the morning with the arriving delegations.

The Wabash depot presented a lively scene last evening when Judge Thurman arrived in the city.

Mr. James H. Sloan, the clerk at the Pittsburg machine shops, is the adjutant of the Soldiers Democratic club.

C. C. Mordaugh, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was in the city yesterday.

The car wheel department of the Bass works employed several new men yesterday and will put on another additional force Saturday.

The railroads enjoyed a big passenger business to-day, and every train entering the city was crowded with excursionists to the Thurman rally.

The gathering of news around the shops was made difficult this morning by the absence of so many from duty. They are taking in the big Thurman rally.

The Wabash will run their special trains to Peru to-morrow, when Judge Thurman will be in that city. The first train will be from Defiance, the second from this city and the third from Huntington.

The men in the machine shop and brass foundry of the Pittsburg works, failed to report for duty this morning and the departments were closed down to-day. The boys were bound to enjoy Thurman day.

The moulding rooms of the Bass works, under the foremanship of Frank Finke, J. J. Stier, and Fred Myers and also the skein room under Ph. Gable, foreman, are closed down to-day. The machine and boiler shops closed down at noon.

As one rides over the country at a high speed the question often comes up: "How fast are we running?" The most accurate method of ascertaining how fast a train is moving, and the one mo t in use by experienced railroad men is to count the number of rail joints the train passes over in twenty seconds. The rails in nearly all cases are thirty feet in length, and the number passed over in twenty seconds is the speed per hour a train is running. For instance, if a passenger sitting in a sleeper can count thirty clicks of the wheel on a rail joint in twenty seconds, the train is running at the speed of thirty miles an hour.

The fifth annual international convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Brakeman, convenes at Columbus, Ohio, to-day. The organization now numbers about 20,000 men, who will be represented in the convention by 273 delegates. There will be an unusual amount of business before the convention and it will probably be in session eight or ten days. The most important question that the convention will be asked to consider is the proposition for a federation of the interests of all the railway societies, including the Brotherhood of Engineers, Locomotive Fireman, the Switchmen, and possibly the Order of Railway Conductors. The proposition for the proposed federation originated in the great strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. It is argued that had their been a union of the organizations the differences between the management of the road and employes would long since have been terminated. Should the scheme for the federation be successfully carried into effect the railroad men would have, without question, the most powerful and far reaching labor organization ever effected, and if a strike were ordered by any branch of the railway mail service as on the Burlington system the strikers would receive the aid and co-operation of all branches included in the federation. A committee from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and also one from the Brotherhood of Engineers will in attendance at the convention.

Corrupted Bread.

The way people are questioning their grocers about the adulteration of baking powders has stirred up that part of the mercantile community to taking more care in their selection of manufactured articles. The consumers are rapidly awakening to the fact that nearly all the cheap brands and prize goods, as well as some high priced brands advertised as "Absolutely Pure," contain either alum, lime or ammonia, and some of them all of these adulterants.

A simple test of the purity of baking powder, is to mix in a tin cup two heaping teaspoonfuls of the powder with three teaspoonfuls of cold water, place it over the fire, stirring constantly, allow it to boil thoroughly, or, until the gas escapes freely; then smell; if adulterated the odor of Ammonia will be plainly perceived. The presence of Ammonia in most cases indicates that Alum is used, as nearly all the Alum of commerce contains Ammonia. Pure Baking Powder will not give the faintest Ammoniacal odor. Baking Powder composed principally of Starch, Alum and terra alba, boil into a thick dirty paste.

It is important for housewives to know that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from Almmonia, Alum, Lime and all adulteration whatsoever; also that it is healthful and economical; really the most perfect made.

The Natural Gas Ordinance.

The council met last night to consider the natural gas ordinance, but the Salamonie company presented none and the matter went over without action.

The company is not satisfied with their first ordinance. They now object to a revision of the price schedule at any time, object to the city ever purchasing the works and increase the cost of gas to manufacturers from fifty per cent. the cost of coal to seventy per cent.

The council will not pass such an ordinance.

OUR HONORED GUEST.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman Royally Received by the Democratic Hosts—The Distinguished Party With Him and Festivities To-day.

When the east-bound Wabash passenger train pulled in a few minutes late last night, an immense throng of people awaited its arrival. Men, women and children braved the rain and encountered the disadvantage of its being supper hour, to greet the Old Roman and above and beyond all were the Hendricks heroes, all in the line to escort the distinguished party to the hotel.

When the headlight of the in-coming train lit up the advance shouts went up from a thousand throats and when Col. C. S. Brice's private car reached the stopping point the welcome amounted to an ovation.

The appearance of Judge Thurman on the platform of the train was the signal for unbridled enthusiasm at it continued as the Old Roman firmly wedged his way to the carriage in waiting, attached to which were four grey horses, prancing under their plumes.

The City band was endeavoring to drown the cheers with its music, and succeeded to some degree, when the Hendricks legion took its place in the street and marched in front of the carriages to the Wayne hotel.

The drive from the depot to the Wayne was a magnificent one, for the sidewalks were thronged to view the distinguished arrivals in open carriages as the red lights brightened the skies like unto daylight.

There were in the party, Judge Allen G. Thurman, Governor Isaac P. Gray, Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald, Mr. Allen W. Thurman, Dr. Wm. Schwarz, and the local reception committee, including Hon. J. H. Bass, Hon. R. C. Bell, Dr. Geo. W. Losg, Hon. F. P. Randall, Hon. C. A. O. McClellan, Mr. S. B. Bond, Hon. Charles McCulloch, Prof. J. H. Ungemach, Mr. A. E. Hoffman, Mr. Jacob Stier, Mr. Peter Scheid, Mr. P. J. Fallon, Mr. James M. Kane, Mr. Edward Gilmartin, Mr. O. E. Bradway, Mr. A. C. Trentman, Mr. Gottlieb Niemann, Mr. Philip Singleton, Mr. Henry Hilbrecht, sr., Mr. James Woulfe, Mr. A. H. Carrier, Mr. Joseph Langard, Mr. Otto Nichter.

At the hotel another great throng awaited the party. The enthusiasm broke out afresh as the judge and his company entered the hotel and were lost to sight.

The front of the hotel was bright as the sun, from an arch of electric lights that circled the double window back of the balcony, making the picture one of unsurpassed beauty.

The assembly was there to await the flag presentation to the Hendricks club and proposed to be entertained. Accordingly they called for their favorites and ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald was introduced by Senator Bell. The sturdy old statesman expressed his pleasure at greeting his Fort Wayne friends, told of his hopes of democratic success, said the political skies were never clearer and closed with a few pleasant allusions to say good night.

Gov. Isaac P. Gray was introduced by Hon Fred J. Hayden and was royally received. He had everything pleasant to say to his Fort Wayne friends, among which was the assertion that he had promised Judge Thurman that Allen county would give his ticket 4,500 democratic majority. "Make it 5,000," "We'll give him 5,000," "You are too low," and such cries went up. "If you will give 4,500 majority in Allen county," said the governor, "I will guarantee you the state by 10,000 democratic majority."

THE HENDRICKS CLUB HONORED.

The Hendricks legion was ready to receive their banner at this juncture, 7:30, but the ladies had fixed 8 o'clock for the event and were immovable, and the handsome young fellows marched about town briefly to await the pleasure of their sistors, wives and sweethearts.

At 8 o'clock, the ladies having arrived and placed themselves in the windows, Hon. J. M. Barrett, surrounded by a bevy of belles, presented the Hendricks legion the handsomest and richest silk flag of the campaign. Mr. Barrett was in fine voice and poured his eloquence out in these words:

Gentlemen of the Hendricks club:—I desire to congratulate you upon being members of the great democratic party. I congratulate you that you belong to the party of Jefferson and Jackson, of Madison and Monroe, of McClellan and Hancock the superb, of Tilden and Hendricks, and of Cleveland and Thurman. I congratulate you, that you do not belong to a party begotten of a single issue and born in the travail of civil war and afterwards left without purpose and without force other than the cohesive power of public plunder, but that you belong to a party whose foundation stones were laid broad and deep upon the solid rock of the rights of the people, a party whose cardinal principle has always been a government of the people, by the people and for the people; a party whose history, extending back to the national birth, is replete with great battles and illustrious achievements in behalf of the masses as against the corroding power of the possible few; a party on whose banner there has always been inscribed the motto: "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none;" a party that has withstood the storms of time, passed through the dark valley of defeat, and to-day stands on the sunlit hills of the peoples confidence; a party that does not feast upon the dead issues of the past, but with eyes toward the morning sun is nourished by the great and burning questions of to-day; a party that is not permeated with the economic heresy that you can make a man rich by taxing his food, his clothing and the implements of his industry; a party that has outlived every antagonist, and which will in November next bury the grand old political reminiscence in an ocean of free whisky, with a tobacco leaf for its shroud. At that funeral it is to be hoped that the members of the Hendricks club will be among the chief grave diggers. It is an honorable occupation.

I also congratulate you upon the name chosen for your club—the name of Indiana's once favorite son, the strong advocate of the people's rights, the great publicist, the pure and upright statesman, the exemplary husband and the model citizen—the well beloved and much lamented Hendricks. In honoring him you have honored yourselves.

Another of Indiana's distinguished sons, in paying his last tribute of respect to his memory in the senate of the United States, said of him: "As long as American history treasures up pure lives and faithful public services; as long as public and private virtue, stainless and without blemish, is reared, so long will his name be cherished by the American people as an example worthy of the highest emulation. Monuments of brass and marble will lift their heads toward heaven in honor of his fame; but a monument more precious to his memory and more valuable to the world has already been founded in the hearts of the people whom he served so long, so faithfully and with such signal ability."

But most of all, I congratulate you upon having won favor and distinction in the sight of the democratic ladies of Fort Wayne. Upon their behalf and at their request it is now my privilege and pleasure to present to you this beautiful flag as a token of their esteem for you personally and of their deep interest in the success of the democratic cause. I feel assured that this banner will give to each individual member of your club a new zeal and added courage to do worthy battle for the cause of democracy. From this time on you will realize that the eyes of fair women are upon you and your class, while their hopes and prayers go up for the success of your cause, which they have made their own. He would indeed be unworthy who could be a laggard under such inspiration. The nation's flag is an appropriate gift to a democratic club. Like democracy, it is a beacon of hope to the poor and lonely and spreads its protecting folds over all alike. It represents a perpetual union of indestructible states. "A star for every state and a state for every star." It is a constant rebuke to the spirit of sectionalism sought to be kept alive by the republican party and a thundering denunciation of the reverend apostles of brotherly hatred and malice that are traveling through the land declaring the issue to be the solid north against the solid south. It's bright stars proclaim "one flag, one land, one heart, one nation evermore." Its white bars represent the purity of the democratic principles, the red the strength and ardor of your devotion to democratic success, the blue the fidelity of the democratic party to the welfare of the whole people. With this flag you will carry another appropriate democratic emblem—the well-known bandana. It too has become emblematic of the rights of the people as against the insatiate greed of corporate monopoly. With it is associated the history of the public life and services of that able and tried statesman, in whose honor the democracy of northern Indiana will assemble to-morrow. The people's faithful friend, the unfaltering foe of corporate greed—the noblest Roman of them all—Allen G. Thurman.

The emblems of clubs and parties are somewhat significant. I saw the Tippecanoes the other night carrying a banner with the strange device "Nickel" inscribed thereon. I thought it exceedingly appropriate. It is said that when the Russians discovered the first nickel mine they knew of no use it could be put to, they regarded it as worthless or good for nothing. They therefore called it nickel, signifying nothing.

Now I do not suppose the Tippecanoes intended to advertise themselves as a lot of nothings, but the word is appropriate as representing the result of their labor in this campaign. It is all for nothing.

Now, gentlemen, the fair givers of this flag place it in your hands with the belief that its bright colors shall be seen in the thickest of the battle that is now being waged for cheaper clothing, better food and better houses for the people and against the debauching influence of free whisky and tobacco and the unnecessary burdens of high taxes, and with confidence that the members of the Hendricks club will never permit it to be stained with the dishonor of defeat in a cause so just, but that you will carry it to a glorious victory for Cleveland, Thurman and reform."

All this while the silk emblem was in sight of the gay Hendricks boys, and cheers were as liberal as the sentiments of Mr. Barrett.

At his close, Mr. P. B. Colerick, clad in the ulster of the club, appeared on the balcony, and was cheered to the echo. Turning to the ladies he said, with all the fervor of his family of orators:

Ladies—We, as members of the Hendrick's club, have met here this evening for a most pleasant purpose. To receive from your fair hands this beautiful flag. It should at all times be honored and the donors long remembered.

Ladies—While you have not the right of suffrage, yet the advice and good counsel and encouragement which we receive from you will greatly aid us in achieving a glorious triumph in November next and when this victory is won, then this flag with thousands of other flags throughout this land will be unfurled in the ratification of the glorious event.

Gentlemen—We all feel proud in having with us on this joyful occasion one of America's greatest statesman, yes, I might say "the noblest Roman of them all," Hon. Allen G. Thurman, and with such standard bearers and the assistance of the noble ladies of the democratic party, we will surely march on to glorious victory and thereby continuing a "government of the people and for the people," a government for the masses and not the classes.

Ladies—When all over this grand land ratification meetings are held, let me say that your aid, good council and encouragement pending the great struggle for the right shall never be forgotten.

Mr. Colerick was applauded to the echo and was given a royal reception by his comrades for whom he was spokesman.

A BRIEF RECEPTION.

At the conclusion of the flag presentation, Hon. R. C. Bell announced that Judge Thurman would meet the ladies, and leaning on the arm of Hon. Joseph E. McDonald, the next vice president entered the parlor. Mrs. Charles McCulloch was selected to do the introductory honors and his meeting Hon. and Mrs. McCulloch served as an occasion to pay personal compliments to the Hon. Hugh McCulloch, the distinguished father of the Fort Wayne banker.

Mr. Thurman then turned to the ladies and shook hands with each of the fair ones adding a pleasant word here and there, as the meeting seemed to prompt.

The distinguished statesman looked his best and was fresh as a new plucked rose, with a feeling and spirit as bright as sunlight. It was indeed a grand sight to see a man of his years in such a pleasant mood.

During all this time the Hendricks legion, with an escort of first voters, were parading the principal streets, exhibiting proudly their silk banner to a friendly breeze.

At 9 o'clock, the committee of ladies who originated the presentation, were tendered a banquet at the Wayne house, and at the table with their escorts were the Misses Mary Randall, Ida Neireiter, Ada Heller, Lou Mungen, Lyda Bosoker and Louise Horton.

THE FESTIVITIES TO-DAY.

The day could not have opened brighter overhead, nor could the conditions have been improved upon, save that the streets were frightfully muddy and a knowledge of this fact unquestionably kept thousands of people away from Fort Wayne.

There is little room to complain of the numbers, and certainly no chance to criticise the enthusiasm of the throng, which began coming on the earliest trains.

Business houses on Calhoun, Columbia, Main and Berry streets are gaily decorated with national colors, portraits of Cleveland, Thurman, the state candidates, with bandanas tacked onto everything.

It was indeed a picture to inspire democratic hearts and strangers coming in on all sides must have appreciated the honors.

Every incoming train brought its delegations from every conceivable point, and at noon there was a crush on the streets.

Hon. C. F. Muhler was in command of the forces with headquarters in the saddle, while his aids met the visiting delegations and placed them in position for the procession, which moved before 1 o'clock, in all its strength and magnificence, with Mr. Muhler in command, headed by a platoon of police.

The old soldiers and veterans, four hundred strong, were accorded the post of honor and carried transparencies expressing their admiration for President Cleveland. Their appearance was a genuine surprise, as they have planned the parade among themselves. It demonstrates that the soldiers cannot be hoodwinked by republican falsehoods.

The Thurmen bandana club, the Jeffersonians, the visiting clubs, First Voter's, the Cavalry company, Ladies' Bandana club, in wagons and citizens in conveyances, children in wagons, industrial parade and so on, ran the pageant, divided here and there by bands and drum corps commanded by Mr. Muhler's aides.

From the Wayne hotel balcony Judge Thurman, Senator Voorhees, Governor Gray, ex-Senator McDonald, and other distinguished men viewed the great parade.

The procession was an hour passing THE SENTINEL office and from this can be formed an idea of its strength. Their must have been 10,000 people in the parade and one-third of the clubs were not out but will be to-night.

Houses are decorated, the ladies are out in holiday attire and the man without a democratic emblem is a rarity.

THE SPEECHES.

The afternoon meeting was held at the Hamilton fields, south of the railroad, to which point the parade lead thousands. Three large stands had been erected. The central one was occupied by Hon. Allen G. Thurman and Gov. Isaac P. Gray. At one of the other, or overflow, stands Samuel Carey and J. H. Goulden held forth, and at the other Hon. J. E. McDonald and Senator Voorhees.

OFFICERS OF THE DAY.

President of the day, John H. Bass.

Vice-presidents—Hon. W. G. Colerick, Hon. A. H. Hamilton, Hon. J. K. Edgerton, Hon. Robert Lowry, Hon. Wm. Fleming, P. S. O'Rourke, J. D. Sarnighausen, Christian Tressell, Prof. August Crull, J. G. Theime, Barney Fitzpatrick, John Smith, C. P. Morgan, Louis Rastetter, J. F. W. Meyer, John Welch, Geo. DeWald, Henry Monning, C. L. Centlivre, Henry Berghoff, James O'Hern, Philip Luley, Morris Cody, Rudolph Bœrger, Frank Sallier, August Lordier, Rudolph Bensman, William H. Miller.

ANOTHER OVATION FOR THURMAN.

The appearance of Judge Thurman in an open carriage on the Hamilton field was greeted by the cheers of fully 50,000 people.

The throng opened for him and his party a passage way to the speakers stand and ascending the platform he surveyed the great concourse, as cheer after cheer went up, the gray haired man, "gentle-women and boys vieing with each other to do him honor.

As soon as quiet reigned, Hon. J. H. Bass stepped to the front and briefly introduced Judge Thurman, who, with uncovered head and a face beaming with satisfaction, stepped to the railing.

The distinguished gentleman recited the fact of his having spoken frequently this week and had arrangements ahead of him at Peru, Indianapolis and Brazil, and said it had been deemed advisable for him not to speak in the open air.

"I will speak at the Princess Rink to-night," said he, "and will spread myself as well as my ability will permit." He expressed immense gratification at the grand assembly and thanks for the welcome accorded him. Every day in Indiana gladdened his heart and when he saw the zeal, energy and patriotism of the democrats everywhere his heart filled with emotion. His friends had said to him that Indiana was democratic and now he believed it himself. After bowing his acknowledgments to the great throng, greeting them on all sides, the judge gave way to Governor Gray and Senator Voorhees.

TO-NIGHT.

THE EVENING SPEECHES.

This evening, after the parade, Judge Thurman and Senator Voorhees will speak at the Princess Rink, and Joseph E. McDonald will hold forth at the Academy of Music, while Governor Gray, J. H. Goulden, Judge Everett Bell and Samuel Carey will be at the north and south doors of the court house. This arrangement, it is hoped, will be satisfactory to all the visitors and is the most equal distribution the committee could make.

Judge Thurman will begin his speech promptly at 8 o'clock, and will not wait for the procession.

THE NIGHT PARADE CUT SHORT.

It has been decided to confine the evening parade to the paved streets, such as Calhoun, Columbia, Main, Berry and Burr. The muddy streets cannot be walked and the arrangement will be satisfactory.

EN ROUTE TO FORT WAYNE.

At the Indianapolis depot a hearty cheer was given by the crowd there assembled as a "God-speed" to the judge and party when they pulled out for this city. As the train passed slowly through the capital city, bandanas were waved and hearty cheers greeted its appearance.

Stations along the way gave warm welcome.

Cicero had one hundred or more people, to whose cheers the judge returned thanks, telling them they had evidently brought their lungs with them.

Arcadia is a small station whose democrats had telegraphed ahead, asking a brief speech, and when the train came to a stop a couple of hundred of cheering people were in waiting with banners. Without waiting for an introduction to the people, whose cheers showed none was needed, Judge Thurman said:

"MY FRIENDS—At the close of the American revolution, or a little time after that, General Washington made a visit to Massachusetts, and old John Hancock was governor of that state, and old Hancock said that no man worshipped Washington like he, or more than he did, but that no man should take precedence of him in the state of Massachusetts.

"Now, I cannot take precedence of the noble governor of Indiana, and I ask you to give three cheers for Governor Gray."

The cheers were given with a will, and Gov. Gray remarked:

"All I have to say, many friends, is this: Don't permit such a thing to stain the escutcheon of the democracy of Indiana as for it to fail to cast its vote on the 6th day of November next for the grand man, the best that you have ever had the privilege to vote for in your lives; who has served his country long and well, and stands before the people to-day having deservedly won that title which you all know—the noblest Roman—of the public men of our country."

The governor closed with an admonition for democratic wives to see that their husbands turned out promptly and voted. Among the banners in the crowd was one with pictures of Cleveland and Thurman with mottoes under them. This caught Judge Thurman's eye, and when Gov. Gray concluded he pointed to it, saying: "There is the best thing that I have seen yet. 'Give us four years more of honest government.' That is the thing, that's the banner; under that you will march to victory.

Athens cheered for Thurman and Gray. As the train pulled out, one enthusiast shouted, "Now hallon again," and they did so.

Four or five hundred people stood in the rain at Tipton and cheered enthusiastically. Judge Thurman's response was.

"My friends, I am very much obliged to you for your welcome, but, of course, you do not expect me to make a speech. I am husbanding my voice and taking care of it as much as I can so as to make a big talk, what the Indians call a long talk, up here at Fort Wayne, and now you have been so kind as to give three cheers for me, I ask you to give three cheers for your noble governor—Gov. Gray." [Cheers.]

Gov. Gray spoke briefly, and when the train started a number in the crowd asked the judge if he would stand at the door, so that all could see him. He replied "yes, if they think I am worth looking at."

At Kokomo a crowd of 1,500 on the tops of freight cars, on the platform and on the track cheered again and again. Judge Thurman simply had time to thank them before the train started.

Another crowd, equally as large and every bit as enthusiastic, greeted the judge at Peru, where the private car was coupled to the Wabash train. Judge Thurman and Governor Gray both spoke briefly, the judge excusing himself by saying: "Day after to-morrow I will speak to you until you are tired of me," but several in the crowd promptly yelled out, "you can't do it."

When Wabash was reached a crowd of 1,000 cheered the sight of the judge, who introduced Governor Gray, and they shouted more than ever.

At Andrews 500 people, and as many more at Huntington, showed their democracy by hearty applause at sight of the judge.

A CHAT WITH HIM.

As soon as the Judge arrived at the hotel and had bowed himself through the crowd, he repaired to his room, accompanied by his son, Allen W. Thurman. He soon made himself at home and supper was served in his apartments, where he received only a few callers, among them THE SENTINEL representative.

After an exchange of greetings the newspaper man ventured to ask about the prospects of the election of Mr. Cleveland and himself.

"Well, I don't know" replied the statesman. "I cannot see how it can be otherwise. The prospects are very flattering."

"While east you had a good chance to look over New York?"

"Yes, sir; I saw a good deal that makes me believe that New York will be ours; for that is what you want to know, I suppose. I am assured by great politicians all over the state; and from both parties, that New York will give a very handsome democratic majority."

"Do you agree with President Cleveland's views on the tariff questions?"

"Yes, sir, I do. There is a great deal of 'bunkoing' going on in republican ranks about this matter. They are trying to make the people think that 'democracy' means 'free trade'. This is not the case. I know that Mr. Cleveland does not believe in absolute free trade."

"Do you think that the Mills bill or any measure similar to it will ever pass?"

"Yes, sir, I do. It may not be the Mills bill as it now is, but a measure very simular will some day become a law, and that day is not far distant."

And here the Judge went in an eloquent peroration on tariff reform.

THE THURMAN PARTY.

The Thurman party consists of Hon. Allen G. Thurman, his son, Mr. A. W. Thurman, Dr. Wm. Schwarz, their family physician, Ex-senator McDonald, Gov. Isaac P. Gray, Hon. Edward Everett Bell, of New York, Mr. R. M. Brown, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, Messrs. B. S. Cowen and W. S. Garber, of the Associated Press, A. M. Hunt, of the United Press, and W. A. Taylor, of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

SENATOR VOORHEES.

The distinguished senior senator from Indiana arrived in the city at 10:30 this morning from Hartford City, where he spoke last night. He is in the best of health and spirits, and will make great speeches to-day. He is accompanied by W. J. Haswood and S. H. Alexander.

THE CLEVELAND CLUB.

The famous Tilden club, of Cleveland, 500 strong and headed by their own band, arrived on a special train, after 3 o'clock, this afternoon, and were escorted to the Hamilton fields by the Hendricks legion and the City band. They were handsome as princes going up Calhoun street, with the Thurman club bringing up the rear.

NOTES.

Col. J. A. Goulden, of Pittsburg, one of the speakers to-day, has been making great speeches in the state. He is an old soldier, and a member of the Pennsylvania state central committee.

Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald and General Samuel Carey addressed a great meeting at Wabash yesterday.

Senator Voorhees addressed 10,000 people at Hartford City last night, and there was a great parade.

Senator Turpie was compelled to go to Washington and forgo the pleasure of a visit to Fort Wayne.

A Check That Did Much Good.

Some weeks ago a prominent real estate dealer in Los Angeles handed a gentleman a check for $2,500 in a deal. The recipient of it having some little obligations outstanding as the result of too much boom quietly indorsed it and handed it to a creditor, and thus it started on its mission of charity, love, and business. In due course of time it turned up in the hands of the original drawer of it, with no less than fifteen indorsements on the back. It had paid $37,500 in debts, made fifteen men happy and returned to its drawer.—Santa Ana, (Cal.) Standard.

To Assist Nature

In restoring diseased or wasted tissue is all that any medicine can do. In pulmonary affections, such as Colds, Bronchitis, and Consumption, the mucous membrane first becomes inflamed, then accumulations form in the air-cells of the lungs, followed by tubercles, and, finally, destruction of the tissue. It is plain, therefore, that, until the hacking cough is relieved, the bronchial tubes can have no opportunity to heal. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

the inflamed membrane, arrests the wasting process, and leaves no injurious results. This is why it is more highly esteemed than any other pulmonary specific.

L. D. Bixby, of Bartonsville, Vt., writes: "Four years ago I took a severe cold, which was followed by a terrible cough. I was very sick, and confined to my bed about four months. My physician finally said I was in consumption, and that he could not help me. One of my neighbors advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and before I had taken half a bottle was able to go out. By the time I had finished the bottle I was well, and have remained so ever since."

Alonzo P. Daggett, of Smyrna Mills, Me., writes: "Six years ago, I was a traveling salesman, and at that time was suffering with

Lung Trouble.

For months I was unable to rest nights. I could seldom lie down, had frequent choking spells, and was often compelled to seek the open air for relief. I was induced to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which helped me. Its continued use has entirely cured me, and, I believe, saved my life."

THIS is Thurman day.

TRIUMPHANT democracy reigns.

GIVE to all a royal, democratic welcome.

THE freedom of the city is tendered to the visitors.

THE skies cleared at the approach of the grand Old Roman.

THE next vice president was royally welcomed to Fort Wayne.

FORT WAYNE extends a good, hearty welcome to its guests to-day.

OUR compliments to the noblest Roman of them all—Allen G. Thurman.

OCCASIONS of this sort widen Fort Wayne's fame and reputation for hospitality.

GENERAL SAM CARY, after a long campaigning trip in the east, said in an interview at Cincinnati, Saturday, that New York is as sure for Cleveland as Georgia is.

IT is not often that Fort Wayne welcomes as one man, three of the greatest statesmen in Indiana—Senator Daniel W. Voorhees, Governor Isaac P. Gray and Hon. Joseph E. McDonald.

THE TRIUMPHS OF DEMOCRACY.

One might exhaust volumes in detailing the triumphs of the democratic party since the day of its inception, but the exhaustless roll of honor has no prouder claim to distinction than its strict adherence to the fundamental corner stone, "a government by the people."

Now as ever it is leading the advance thought and its triumph is the best possible evidence of the justice of its policy, while sufficient reward is found in the approval of the people of the republic in whom the whole power ultimately resides.

Once more in its long history the democratic party appeals to the people of America to rid themselves of unnecessary taxation, to lighten the burdens of government and free themselves from the bondage of far reaching monopolies, and their ally, the republican party.

It seeks to adjust the tariff taxes of the country to the needs of an economical government, so that the citizens of this great nation may enjoy the blessings of lawful freedom at the least possible cost.

After an administration of acknowledged purity, after a faultless reign of almost four years, cheered by the blessings of prosperity and nourished by a patriotism that has won fresh laurels for the stars and stripes at home and abroad, on land and sea, it is hardly probable that the people of this nation are ready for a radical change from certainty to uncertainty, from right to wrong, from on honest people's tariff tax to war bounties for gold barons and monopolists.

This nation has greater possibilities in the future than few realize and if the past is accepted as evidence, the democratic party can be trusted to the achievements.

To recall a few of the triumphs of the democracy will but refresh old memories and endear the young men of to-day to the cause for which we battle.

In 1801, when the great Jefferson was inaugurated president of the United States, the union was bounded on the west by the Mississippi river, on the south, by the present boundary line of Florida; on the east, by the Atlantic; on the north, by the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river. All that vast territory west of the "Father of Waters" was under the jurisdiction of foreign nations having no sympathy for republican forms of government. It was then that Mr. Jefferson consummated that masterpiece of diplomacy, the purchase of the Louisiana territory,

Let us endeavor, by comparison, to grasp the magnitude of this acquisition to the American union. It contains the greatest river system of the globe, embracing many navigable streams, constituting a series of water communications, north and south, east and west. This vast tract contains 756,961,280 of the most fertile land in the universe, purchased at a cost of two cents per acre. The influence of this accession to the union can not be calculated. Blaine thus speaks of that act of Jefferson as follows: "The acquisition of Louisiana brought incalculable wealth, power and prestige to the union, and must always be regarded as the masterpiece of policy which advanced the United States from a comparatively feeble nation, lying between the Atlantic and the Mississippi, to a continental power of assured strength and boundless promise." The history of ancient or modern times, the annals of celebrated conquerors cannot equal this splendid triumph of our Jefferson.

During the administration of James Monroe, a democrat, Florida was added to the Union. This addition to the Union comprised 37,931,520 acres. The result of this purchase was to give the United States command of the Gulf of Mexico, and a coigne of vantage for the South America trade.

While James K. Polk was presiding, with great ability, over the destinies of America, 334,433,520 acres of land was added, thereby broadening the foundations of our glorious country. The mineral wealth of this acquisition is beyond computation. To comprehend the greatness of these triumphs of democratic statesmanship, it should be remembered that the following states and territories were carved out of these enormous tracts: Louisiana, 41,346 square miles; Missouri, 65,350, Arkansas, 52,198; Florida, 59,268; Iowa, 55,045; Texas, 274,356; California, 157,801; Minnesota, 83,531; Oregon, 95,274; Kansas, 80,891; Nevada, 112,090; Nebraska, 75,995; Colorada, 104,500, New Mexico, 121,201; Utah, 84,476; Washington, 69,994; Dakota, 150,922; Arizona, 113,916; Idaho, 86,294; Montana, 143,776; Wyoming, 97,883, and Indian Territory, 68,991 square miles.

The Motion of the Earth.

Any one can prove the rotary motion of the earth on its axis by a simple periment, for making which an editional journal of Frankfort, Germany, gives the following directions:

"Take a good-sized bowl, fill it nearly full with water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street.

Sprinkle over the surface of the water a coat of lycopodium powder, a white substance which is sometimes used for the purposes of the toilet and which can be obtained at almost any apothecary's.

Then upon the surface of this coating of powder make with powdered charcoal a straight, black line, say an inch or two inches in length.

Having made this little black mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay down upon the floor, close to the bowl, a stick or some other straight object, so that it will be exactly parallel with the mark.

If the line happens to be parallel with a crack in the room, this will serve as well.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours, and then observe the position of the black mark with reference to the object that it was parallel with. It will be found to have moved about, and to have moved from east to west.

The earth in simply revolving has carried the water and everything else in the bowl around with it, but the powder has been left behind a little.

The line will always be found to have moved from east to west, which is perfectly good proof that everything else has moved the other way."

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, anbmit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or effection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

MAUD MEREDITH, the wild and headstrong girl known in California as the heiress of Oakland, recently escaped from her guardians, who have been trying to make a lady of her since she became wealthy and were stopping at San Luis Obispo with her. After a search of ten days she was found, clad in boy's apparel, hoeing beans on a ranch below Arroyo Grande. The man who gave her employment states that he never had a person who was more faithful.

Every wife and mother in the country should know the great value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, as a blood purifier. It gives tone, health and strength, to the vital organs, corrects all irregularties, and expels impurities from the system. Young and old use it. Price $1.

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW.

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the Cuticura Remedies. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the Cuticura Remedies, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother, who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured.

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the Cuticura Remedies, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well,—sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name, which is H. H. Cason, merchant of this place.

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried Cuticura. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and Cuticura ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breath freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrah, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

MORE KICKS.

The "Arizona Kicker's" Vigorous Policy.
[Detroit Free Press.]

We extract the following from the last issue of the Arizona Kicker:

OUR POLICY—Heretofore, as our readers know, the Kicker has almost entirely abstained from publicly criticising the evils which all know to exist under our nose. We have become tired and disgusted with ourselves for the lack of spunk, and next week we shall open a red-hot campaign on

"The Mayor,
"The Common Council,
"The Fire Department,
"All secret societies,
"The saloons,
"The gambling dens,
"And on various other organizations and institutions reeking with corruption.

"It will be a spicy issue. It will make more than a ton of human hair stand on end. It will make a thousand hearts thump like pile-drivers. Chicanery, deceit, hypocrisy, theft, robbery, arson, and murder will be properly tagged off and the tags pinned to the right coat-tails.

"Order your extra copies at an early date. Advertisers should send in their copy by Saturday. Don't neglect this golden opportunity. Another may never come."

"A CANDID OPINION.—We have received visits from several of our leading politicians to inquire why the Kicker doesn't take a decided political stand in favor of one party or the other. It is a question easily answered. We are not publishing a newspaper for fun. Our convictions all run to publishing a dictionary or an almanac, thus leaving us neutral in politics.

"If the Kicker flies the Democratic flag and hustles for Cleveland and Thurman it must have some solid assurance that after election the editor will receive a call. A call with a salary of about $3,000 hitched to it would just about fit our shape.

"If the Kicker put up the Republican ticket and blows for its success it must have something in writing to fall back on after election. We think we could fall back on a postoffice of the second-class and not fracture our anatomy.

"We sat up all night last night waiting for a committee of Prohibitionists to come along and get down to facts, but the bridges were down and they didn't come. We don't say that it all depends on the Kicker which party rules for the next four years, but we do solemnly affirm that the editor will keep clear of the whole mob and publish nothing but poetry and local news unless some pretty solid promises are held out to arouse his slumbering convictions. We are not for sale, but we do hanker for office."

"STOPPED HIS PAPER.—Old Steve Bridgeman, who has several times been alluded to in these columns as the meanest white man in Arizona, has stopped his paper because we did not have a column editorial on the Fourth of July. He says we are no patriot, and that a man who can't whoop'er up for Independence Day is a cussed rebel.

"We have scratched his name off the list, and if he doesn't quit lying about us we'll scratch his carcass off the face of the earth.

"As to the Fourth of July, we were born on that day. As to the patriotism, we've got more in our heels than old Steve could hold in his whole body. The man who intimates that we don't take off our hat every time we hear the name of Washington is a liar and a horse-thief. Our editorial on the Fourth was a solid chunk of patriotism weighing twenty-five pounds, but was crowded out to make room for the advertisement headed: 'How to Cure a Bad Breath.' We know our gait and we think we know the great need of most of our townspeople. As to old Steve Bridgeman, we are expecting two or three of his six or seven wives to drop in on us any day and furnish us some powerful reading matter. Don't be uneasy, Stephen—we'll get to you in a few days."

"WARNING.—We are no fighter. We have neither the sand nor the muscle to make one. We alway knuckle unless there's a chance to run. We admit to a dozen lickings in the last three months, and in every case we were the only one who suffered.

"However, we want to warn the coyote who plastered our office door with mud the other night that the worm will turn. We are the worm. When we turn he had better look out. We can be kicked, cuffed, insulted, and abused up to a certain limit. How far off the limit is, we don't know, but when we reach it, we shall be a bad, bad man to fool with."

AMONG the recent shipments from London were the photograms of Mr. Gladstone's speech and one of Adelina Patti's songs. This fact suggests the extent to which this new invention—the phonograph—may be used. We shall have an entirely new industry. Instead of reading the speeches of distinguished men and hearing the songs of great divas we can turn them out with all the vocal disagreeableness or attractiveness of the original voice with the aid of a phonograph. We shall have boxes filled with the songs of Patti and Materna; bales of speeches of Gladstone and Bismarck. Perhaps the phonograph can be used on the battle field so that we can get some of the fierce noises of the fray. It will add much of interest to the study of the map. The phonograph will be used to record death-bed wishes. In fact there is no telling what the little instrument can not be made to do.

Do you suffer from scrofula, salt rheum, or other humors? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. 100 doses one dollar.

In Arctic Alaska.

Lieut. W. L. Howard, U. S. N., contributes to the Popular Science Monthly an article on "Arctic Alaska," from which we take this extract: A deer-hunt which we witnessed was so different from our previous conception, that I think it worthy of description. Upon this occasion, while sledging with a party of Indians, a herd of deer was sighted. The natives took their rifles and started, some going in one direction and some in another, but all keeping to the leeward of the deer. Those who went directly toward the herd waited until the others had got partly around before starting. The first shot was the signal, whereupon all hands rushed toward the frightened animals, who separated and plunged blindly in every direction. The Indians shouted, making all the noise possible, the fleeing animals in their fear mistaking Indians for deer, and rushing on until a shot showed them their error, when they would turn and flee as blindly as before. Even after the first fight they circled around the danger, trying to get together, and in this way many more were killed. As much meat as could be carried was loaded upon the sleds, while the remainder was cached in the snow, to be sledged for at some future time.

The Indians spend their winters in the mountains. They are generally found in villages consisting of from two to a dozen houses. The winter house of these people consists of a hemispherically-shaped hut, made by bending willow saplings or cutting spruce to the desired shape. The framework is covered with brush, and over this dried moss and turf to the depth of a foot or more. There is an ice window on either side of the entrance. In the roof is a hole just over the fireplace for the smoke. Inside, the center of the hut is used as a fireplace, the fire being made the same as in the open air! At the back of the hut is a meat-stand, upon which several hundred pounds of deer-meat is kept, so that a quantity will be on hand sufficiently thawed for use. Upon entering a hut when traveling, some of this partially-thawed meat is always offered to the newcomer. The floor of the hut is covered with brush, upon which they sit during the day, and spread skins to sleep upon at night. Meat is cooked but once a day. About 5 p. m. a large fire is started and the pots are put on. These are the ordinary kettles of civilization, which they get in trade, or, in their absence, pots made of native clay are used. The cooking is done by the women, who taste the meat from the moment it is put on the fire until cooked. The remainder of the fire is then thrown out through the hole in the roof by the young men, and as soon as the hut is clear of smoke, the flap that covers the chimney-hole is hauled over for the night. The hunters return usually about this time of the day, and upon entering the hut take off most of their clothes. After eating pounds of the deer meat, alternating the cooked with raw meat, and drinking quantities of the soup, they smoke a pipe, and all hands go to sleep. All the household are fond of stripping and baking themselves before the fire, particularly the old people, who go so close as to almost blister themselves. They say the heat makes them young, and drives away their pains.

IN a work on meteorology Camille Flammarion declares the atmosphere to be a huge machine, on which every living thing is dependent. There are in this machine neither wheel-work, pistons, nor cogs, nevertheless it does the work of several millions of horses, and this work has for its end and effect the preservation of life.—Ark. Traveler.

THE population of St. Petersburg has diminished by 85,000 in the last seven years.

Why suffer with that aching head when you may be cured with Ayer's Catharic Pills?

Send a 2 cent stamp to Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., for a set of their attractive album cards.

I have not used all of one bottle yet. I suffered from catarrh for twelve years, experiencing the nauseating dropping in the throat peculiar to that disease, and nose bleed almost daily. I tried various remedies without benefit until last April, when I saw Ely's Cream Balm advertised in the Boston Budget. I procured a bottle, and since the first day's use have had no more bleeding—the soreness is entirely gone.—D. G. Davidson, with the Boston Budget, formerly with Boston Journal.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A YOUNG woman on her way home from church in Mentone, Ind., the other night, was caught in a thunder shower and struck by lightning. It is reported that, though terribly frightened, she managed to reach home. On examination she found that the fluid had bent two of the hairpins on her head and actually melted one, but the skin was not abraded and she was not injured a particle.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—couldn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he went up Ath-lo-pho-ros when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The edd of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I have enjoyed it ever since."

An Effective Sermon.

Dr. Payson of Portland, Me., used to tell this good story: One rainy Sunday he went to his church as usual, but no one appeared except an old negro, who came in and asked if Dr. Payson was to preach. The Doctor said "Yes," and went into the pulpit and preached to the choir and the old negro. Some months afterward he met the negro and asked him if he enjoyed that sermon. "Enjoy dat sermon?" replied the old man. "I 'clar, Doctor, I nebber heard a better one. Yo' see I had a seat pretty well up front, an' whenebber yo'd say somethin' pretty hard like 'gin de sins ob men, I'd jess look all roun' ter see who yo's a hitting, and I wouldn't see nobody on'y jess me. An' I says to m'self, he must mean you, Pomp, you's sech a dretful sinner. Well, Doctor, dat ar sermon set me a thinkin' what a big sinner I war an' I jined de church down home. I'se a deacon now."

That fat man who the ladies declare is the handsomest man in Washington, used to be an invalid, but he took to hard drinking, not of whiskey, but of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and now he walks right over the very slenderest dudes, and don't care at all.

A MARRIED couple sitting down to a game of cards: She—What are you going to play for? He—Anything you like. She—Let us play for a velvet jacket, dear! If you lose I shall have the choosing of it, and if I lose you shall.

One of the fellows struck a girl and drove others into their boudoirs. One of the men struck Lieutenant Wilkinson and ran. There was not provocation enough to shoot the ruffian and there was no robbery committed as some of the gossips had it this morning.

Among the novelties in the "Arabian Nights" is a vapor curtain. A set of steam pipes is run across the stage at the first entrance, and at a certain point in the piece a thick and impenetrable cloud of steam ascends, upon which are thrown various colored lights. Behind this curtain of steam a magnificent set is in preparation. The curtain suddenly dissolves and the fifth scene of the first act, entitled "The Crypt of the Crimson Chrystals," is revealed. There the first ballet comes on. Among the heaviest sets in the piece are "The Market Place of Mongolia," "The Crimson Chrystal" scene, "The Parti-colored Palace of Parasols" and "The Transformation" scene at the end of the piece.

TIRED OF LIFE.

S. B. Crawford, a Hotel Clerk, Sends a Bullet Into His Brain at the Wabash Depot.

Last evening while sitting in the Wabash waiting room Mr. S. B. Crawford, the night clerk at the Commercial house, placed a revolver at his head and sent a bullet crashing through his brain, from the effects of which death will probably follow. He is at the City hospital, to which place he was taken immediately after the deed had been committed.

He was a single man and about thirty-four years old. At one time he was engaged in the grocery business at Keifersville, O., with Mr. John Crow, but the firm failed, since which time he has always been despondent, and has frequently threatened to take his life. His father, brothers and sisters reside at Pittsburg, and are said to be wealthy people. He was addicted to the use of opium, and a considerable quantity was found in his pockets after the shooting, and it is also said he was under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Crow, his former partner, was in the city yesterday on his way to Kansas, and was with the suicide during the afternoon and evening. Crow was to leave for Kansas in the evening and Crawford accompanied him to the depot where the deed was committed. He was carried to the city hospital where Drs. Neischang and Miller probed for the ball, which they found had lodged in the brain.

Mr. Crawford came to this city last May and has been night clerk at the Commercial house since then.

LATER.

Mr. Crawford died at the City hospital this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

CONGRESS.

The Talk on the Adjournment Question—The Proceedings To-day.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.—At the beginning of the morning business today there were eight republican and ten democratic senators present. Mr. George asked and obtained a leave of absence for the remainder of the session. After to-morrow, Mr. Hampton suggested in an undertone, that the same request should be made for all the senators.

The senate then resumed with the consideration of the tariff bill, and was addressed by Mr. Teller.

At the close of Mr. Tellers speech Mr. Allison offered a concurrent resolution for a recess of congress from Saturday next to the 19th of November.

Senator Allison has determined to offer a concurrent resolution that the two houses take a recess from next Saturday until November 19. He will ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The speaker laid before the house twelve pension veto messages and they were referred to the committee on invalid pensions. The house adjourned without taking any action on the adjournment resolution.

ECHOES OF THE MAIL.

The Day's Doings Around the Busy Centers as Told After a Busy Morning Tour.

The Grand Rapids paid of its employes to-day.

The Pittsburg freight house is filled with freight.

The Pittsburg pay-car is in the city to-day, and will remain until to-morrow.

Frank P. Bowers, general passenger agent of the Illinois Central, is in the to-day.

The railroad depots presented a busy scene all the morning with the arriving delegations.

The Wabash depot presented a lively scene last evening when Judge Thurman arrived in the city.

Mr. James H. Sloan, the clerk at the Pittsburg machine shops, is the adjutant of the Soldiers Democratic club.

C. C. Mordaugh, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, was in the city yesterday.

The car wheel department of the Bass works employed several new men yesterday and will put on another additional force Saturday.

The railroads enjoyed a big passenger business to-day, and every train entering the city was crowded with excursionists to the Thurman rally.

The gathering of news around the shops was made difficult this morning by the absence of so many from duty. They are taking in the big Thurman rally.

The Wabash will run their special trains to Peru to-morrow, when Judge Thurman will be in that city. The first train will be from Defiance, the second from this city and the third from Huntington.

The men in the machine shop and brass foundry of the Pittsburg works, failed to report for duty this morning and the departments were closed down to-day. The boys were bound to enjoy Thurman day.

The moulding rooms of the Bass works, under the foremanship of Frank Finke, J. J. Stier, and Fred Myers and also the skein room under Ph. Gable, foreman, are closed down to-day. The machine and boiler shops closed down at noon.

As one rides over the country at a high speed the question often comes up: "How fast are we running?" The most accurate method of ascertaining how fast a train is moving, and the one not in use by experienced railroad men is to count the number of rail joints the train passes over in twenty seconds. The rails in nearly all cases are thirty feet in length, and the number passed over in twenty seconds is the speed per hour a train is running. For instance, if a passenger sitting in a sleeper can count thirty clicks of the wheel on a rail joint in twenty seconds, the train is running at the speed of thirty miles an hour.

The fifth annual international convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Brakeman, convenes at Columbus, Ohio, to-day. The organization now numbers about 20,000 men, who will be represented in the convention by 278 delegates. There will be an unusual amount of business before the convention and it will probably be in session eight or ten days. The most important question that the convention will be asked to consider is the proposition for a federation of the interests of all the railway societies, including the Brotherhood of Engineers, Locomotive Fireman, the Switchmen, and possibly the Order of Railway Conductors. The proposition for the proposed federation originated in the great strike on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. It is argued that had their been a union of the organizations the differences between the management of the road and employes would long since have been terminated. Should the scheme for the federation be successfully carried into effect the railroad men would have, without question, the most powerful and far reaching labor organization ever effected, and if a strike were ordered by any branch of the railway mail service as on the Burlington system the strikers would receive the aid and co-operation of all branches included in the federation. A committee from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and also one from the Brotherhood of Engineers will in attendance at the convention.

"THE VICE ADMIRAL."

A Grand Production by a Grand Company To-night.

The celebrated Conried Opera company of sixty voices, including Lillian Conway, Louis Bianchi, Lydia O'Neil, Harry Hilliard, W. H. Fitzgerald and others present Millocker's charming opera, "The Vice Admiral," at the Masonic Temple, to-night. The sale of seats are now in progress and notwithstanding the big demonstration a large house will be present to witness the opera. The performance will begin at 9 o'clock, after the parade has passed a given point.

Corrupted Bread.

The way people are questioning their grocers about the adulteration of baking powders has stirred up that part of the mercantile community to taking more care in their selection of manufactured articles. The consumers are rapidly awakening to the fact that nearly all the cheap brands and prize goods, as well as some high priced brands advertised as "Absolutely Pure," contain either alum, lime or ammonia, and some of them all of these adulterants.

A simple test of the purity of baking powder, is to mix in a tin cup two heaping teaspoonfuls of the powder with three teaspoonfuls of cold water, place it over the fire, stirring constantly, allow it to boil thoroughly, or, until the gas escapes freely; then smell; if adulterated the odor of Ammonia will be plainly perceived. The presence of Ammonia in most cases indicates that Alum is used, as nearly all the Alum of commerce contains Ammonia. Pure Baking Powder will not give the faintest Ammoniacal odor. Baking Powder composed principally of Starch, Alum and terra alba, boil into a thick dirty paste.

It is important for housewives to know that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from Ammonia, Alum, Lime and all adulteration whatsoever; also that it is healthful and economical; really the most perfect made.

The Natural Gas Ordinance.

The council met last night to consider the natural gas ordinance, but the Salamonie company presented none and the matter went over without action.

The company is not satisfied with their first ordinance. They now object to a revision of the price schedule at any time, object to the city ever purchasing the works and increase the cost of gas to manufacturers from fifty per cent. the cost of coal to seventy per cent.

The council will not pass such an ordinance.
